

'Hmmm, I am feeling rather dozy', the Giant said

'Hen, lay me a golden egg, please.' The little hen stopped clucking and sat down...

When they reached the ground, the hen opened its eyes and clucked happily.

The hen laid a second golden egg! Ma was over the moon with delight.

The Giant's wife didn't answer back, but she did give Jack a giant smile - and an even bigger wink than last time.