

SHORT COMMUNICATIVE MESSAGE

You received an email from your pen pal, who lives in Japan.

Hi,

How have you been? Things are looking quite the same and I am feeling restless. We are not encouraged to go out because of the virus so I am basically banned from doing anything outdoor. How do you kill your time? Tell me, maybe I can use some of your ideas. Hope to hear from you soon!

Chito

It's good to hear from you again. Things are the same here in Kuala Lumpur. We are under lockdown at the moment, so schools are closed until July and I am cooped up at home.
She thought I can just make toasts and instant noodles. And I was quite happy as she said it was actually tasty.
You might want to take up learning a musical instrument too. What is your favourite? Do tell me about it in your next email.
It is called 'Manek Mischief'. It is a compilation of short stories so I can choose any story that I like to read.
Hi Chito,
Hope I was able to give you some ideas. Can't wait to receive your reply.
And lastly, well, you'd never guess it! I am learning how to cook! My mom was quite surprised when I cooked an omelette for her as a birthday present.
We have our online classes from morning until afternoon. So, basically half of the day is gone. Now, the question is what do I do to kill the remaining time until I hit the hay sack.
Then, I have started to learn a musical instrument. I have always wanted to learn how to play the guitar and now is the best time to do it.
As a start, you know that I am an avid reader so at the moment, I am in a middle of a good book.
Now, my parents don't worry too much if they are out at work because they know I can cook myself a decent meal.
Izz
