

Social issues 2

There msees to be so many social issues these days. I'm sure the list of issues is ten times iebggr than it was a few years ago. I just Googled 'social issues' and found a list of 33 iftdernfe issues. I suppose that's not a huge amount. One thing that rusidsrpe me looking at the list is how common they are. ePttyr much all of them epraap on the news most days. A few of them weren't really in the news when I was giogwrn up. I can't remember hearing about drug basue, pollution and immigration years ago. I hope that the number of social issues on this list goes down and not up, although I scpeuts there will more problems in the eutufr. I think there'll be problems about things we don't even know about today.
