

Reading

5 ★★ Read Emma's blog. Complete it with the present perfect form of the verbs in brackets.

Confessions of a teenage traveller

A Worldtravel blog Diary of a young traveller

POSTED BY EMMA WELLS

14.04

Hi all! Sorry I haven't posted recently. I've had the usual computer and wifi problems. Hello to new readers! Welcome to my blog. Here is a summary to get you up to date: I'm still on my travel year and so far I ¹ve had (have) a wonderful time. Before Christmas I worked hard for six months and I saved up enough money to travel round Europe. I left home on 3rd February. My plan was to do something I've never tried before in each new country I visit. This is my list of the new things I ² (do) so far!

I ³ (be) to a few countries. I ⁴ (meet) some lovely people. And I ⁵ (see) so many amazing things!

So far, I ⁶ (travel) to six European countries by train. I've visited a chocolate factory in Belgium - yum! I ⁷ (eat) blue cheese in France - yuck! I ⁸ (hike) in Germany - let me lie down! I've skied in Slovakia - fab! I ⁹ (see) beautiful paintings in Italy - culture queen! I ¹⁰ (pick) lemons in Spain - sore arms! I've scuba dived in the Mediterranean in Portugal - wow!

BUT I ¹¹ (not visit) a castle in the Czech Republic.

And I ¹² (not relax) in a spa in Hungary.

But I ¹³ (not finish) my travelling...

And I ¹⁴ (arrive) in Prague now, so I'm off to find the castle in the old town! Actually, I can see it from my window!

Speak to you all later, Emma xxx

6 ★★★ Read the blog again. Write questions with the present perfect. Then write true answers.

1 eat chocolate / Belgium?

Has she eaten chocolate in Belgium?

Yes, she has.

2 hike / Spain?

3 see snow / Slovakia?

4 ski / France?

5 visit an art gallery / Italy?

6 swim underwater / in the Atlantic?

7 pick oranges / Spain?

8 visit the castle / Prague?

► Student's Book page 23, exercise 3