Listen to the story.

Read the story.

The children in Mr Bath's class are reading stories this morning.
They're reading about a jungle and a zoo.
The monster in Mr Bath's classroom isn't reading this morning.
It's painting suns and stars on Anna's shoe!

The children in Mr Bath's class are having their lunch now.
They're eating fish and chips and peas and bread.
The monster from Mr Bath's classroom isn't having its lunch now.
It's throwing paper planes at Sam and Fred!

The children in Mr Bath's class are doing lots of sports now.
They're playing soccer, tennis or baseball.
The monster from Mr Bath's classroom isn't doing sport now.
It's drawing funny faces on the wall!

The children in Mr Bath's class are going home now.
They're getting their bags
and games and books and pens.
The monster in Mr Bath's
classroom isn't going home now.
It lives behind the door of classroom 10!

Mr Bath can't see the monster. But the children in his class can!
They whisper, 'Now, BE GOOD!' and wave goodbye.
But the monster isn't listening. It's playing the piano!
They love their naughty classmate! So do I!
