

Choose the correct option for each one of the following sentences.

Example: There isn't much butter in the fridge.

1. There isn't                      water in the glass.
2. They've got                      of toys.
3. There are                      magazines on the table.
4. Can I have                      ketchup please?
5. Let's buy                      carrots for our carrot cake.
6. I've got                      snacks for our party.
7. There's only                      salad in the bowl.
8. My friend Ann has got                      lovely hair.
9. We haven't got                      books in this shop.
10. Susan eats                      meat every day.