

An international students' magazine is running a series of articles called "Changing places" in which people describe the person they would most like to be, or the job they would like to have.

Write a short article (100-160 words) for the magazine on this topic.