

Describing a book / film

Adjectives to describe books and films:

Positive - moving, thought-provoking, entertaining, engaging, absorbing, intriguing, compelling, addictive, futuristic, inspirational, relatable;

Negative - predictable, overrated, outdated, disappointing

1. An _____ is very interesting and keeps your attention completely.

- I read her last book and found it very _____.

2. A _____ book or novel is strange and very modern that seems to come from some imagined time in the future. -

- Her latest novel was a _____ story set in 29 century..

3. An _____ book or novel makes you feel full of hope and gives you new ideas to create.

- He gave us an _____ speech.

4. A _____ story is always exciting, makes you read it cover to cover.

- His latest book was strangely _____.

5. A _____ plot always develops that way you expect and you know a main twist before it happens.

- The end of the book was entirely _____.

6. A _____ book makes you think a lot about its subject and character.

- This play was brilliant and _____. I thought about it whole week.

7. A _____ story makes you feel sympathy for the main character or deeply understand the situation, probably, from your own experience.

- Jane is the most _____ character in the book. I know many such people.

8. An _____ story is very unusual and mysterious and doesn't give us obvious answer.

- This movie raises really _____ questions. Many viewers have own theories.

9. A _____ movie seems to be or appears to be more interesting and compelling than it really is.

- After seeing an award-winning movie, we decided it is _____.

10. A book is _____ if it is not relevant anymore and is not so interesting and compelling like more recent stories and novels.

- He wrote interesting books but now his style is boring and _____.

11. A _____ story makes you feel strong emotions like sadness or sympathy.

- This movie was so _____ that I cried.

11. A _____ movie is not as good and successful as you thought and hoped.

-We expected this movie to be so thrilling but instead it was very _____.

13. An _____ book is very interesting, it attracts your attention and is very entertaining.

- This character makes a story so _____ that I can't stop reading a book and this story feels very personal to me.

14. An _____ book is very fun to read, it is interesting and enjoyable.

-His books aren't always well-written but they are very _____.

15. An _____ book makes you read it again and again, you can't stop once you have taken it.

- I really struggle to put down this book it is quite _____.

2. Describe these movies and books using the words above:

