

We made friends.

Josh Banks is writing to his Uncle Joe. Read the letter.

Dear Uncle Joe,

Thanks very much for the football magazines. They're brilliant! They arrived last Monday. Sorry I didn't write sooner but I had a lot of homework last week and yesterday I started karate classes. I'm in Year 10 at school now and Sophie's in Year 9. And now for some good news - I'm in the school football team!

We went to Leicester Square a few days ago and saw Will Smith at a film premiere. He wrote his autograph on my map of London and said 'Hi'. We met some Americans called Danny and Kate Martinez. They're cool. We made friends and had a pizza with them later. It was fun. Their mum took this photo of us with her digital camera. Sophie thinks Danny is good-looking and she wanted a photo of him!

I nearly forgot. Guess what happened! When we came out of the pizza restaurant, Sophie found a wallet full of money in the street. She took it to the police station and a lady said 'Thank you', and gave her a £20 reward! Of course she bought a DVD of Will Smith's new film!

I must go. Danny and Kate are coming to lunch today. Please write soon.

Love,
Josh

P.S. I thought the football poster was great! Thanks!

Everyday Phrases

- Thanks very much for (the football magazines).
- It was fun.
- I nearly forgot.
- Guess what (happened)!
- Of course (she bought a DVD).
- Please write soon.

Listen :

True or False

Sentence	True	False
1. Josh wrote to his Uncle Joe.
2. Josh is in year 10 at school now.
3. He is in the school football team.
4. Danny, Kate and Sophie are his new friends.
5. Danny is American.
6. Sophie is British.
7. Sophie wanted a photo of Danny.
8. Sophie's reward was £30.
9. Josh loves his uncle's football poster.

S.Rattana