The Girl with Red Hair

My name (be) Mark Sellers. I (be) twenty-two years old, and I (work) in security in Mason's store. You can get everything here - books, TVs, hats, flowers, sandwiches, beds, bicycles . It's interesting work, and I like it. Sometimes, I walk around in the store, and sometimes I work in the office. I (not work) on the weekends.

Leon and Shami (work) in security, too. I like working with them. Leon (be) a nice person. He (not finish) work until 8 pm. Shami (work) part-time in a secondary school, too. She (not like) it too much.

'Look at this woman,' Leon (say). 'Which hat (be) best for her - blue or black?'

I look at the woman on the screen.

'Oh - the black hat,' I say.

'No!' says Shami. 'The blue hat is nicer.'

We (watch) and wait. In the end, the woman (take) the blue hat.

'Hurray!' says Shami. 'You two (know) nothing about hats.'

Yes, it's interesting work.

Today I'm watching the screens. I'm looking at a man with a big bag. He (have) a clock in his hand. He (look) around slowly. Now he has a dock in his bag. The man walks to the door. I talk on the radio. Shami (walk) quietly behind the man. When he (get) to the door, she (put) her hand on his arm.

'Please come with me,' she says.

Good. I go back to the screens.

And then I (see) her.

'Wow! Who (be) that girl?'

'What girl? I can see lots of girls', Leon says.

Now the picture on the screen is bigger.

'That girl there - with red hair.'

Leon looks at the screen.

'Hmm - yes, she's OK. But who (be) she? I (not know). Why don't you go and ask her, Mark?'

He (laugh) and walks away, but I can't stop looking at the screen. Who is that beautiful girl? What is her name? What she (do)?

I want to meet her.
