Dulce Pinzon (born in 1974) is a Mexican artist currently living in Brooklyn, New York, U.S. Her work is influenced by feelings of nostalgia, questions of identity, and political and cultural frustration. Her project was to pay homage to the brave and determined men and women who somehow manage, without the help of any supernatural power, to work many hours in extreme conditions for low wages that are saved at great cost and sacrifice. Her project demonstrates how consumption can encourage customization, mash-ups, or the re-inventing of products in order to create new meanings.
