

The diagram shows the Malaysian coat of arms, which features a red three-petaled flower (hibiscus) with a yellow center, set against a yellow crescent and a 14-pointed star. The emblem is encircled by a yellow rope and a green wreath. Five lines point from the emblem to five empty rectangular boxes for labeling:

- Top left box: points to the yellow rope.
- Top right box: points to the yellow crescent.
- Middle left box: points to the red petals.
- Middle right box: points to the yellow center.
- Bottom center box: points to the green wreath.
