

Welcome to the San Francisco public transportation information line. San Francisco has a variety of transit options for visitors. For Information on ferry crossings in the Bay Area, press 1. For information on MUNI buses and metro _____, press 2. For information on the BART, Bay Area Rapid Transit train system, including _____ to San Francisco International airport, press 3.

For information on the world-famous cable cars, press 4. For any other information, including bike _____, _____, tours, and car rental, please hold for an operator.

You have chosen option 4. San Francisco's historic cable cars have been running since _____. They provide an unusual and _____ way to see the city with stunning views. There are three lines: California-Van Ness, Powell- Mason, and Powell-Hyde. The cable cars run from 6 a.m. to 1 a.m., _____ through Sunday. At _____ times they are approximately every five to ten minutes.

Tickets can be bought at special booths or on the car at $3 for a single ride. Tickets are _____. special one- day and one-week passes are available. You can board at any of the stops indicated with the brown cable-car sign. Cable-car riders should hold on tight and take great care when getting on and off