Level 4 – Practice Quiz 2 - Summer

Queen's Day is a famous national holiday in Holland (Netherlands). It takes place on the 27th of April, but if the 27th is a Sunday, people celebrate queen's day on the 26th of April. It is well-known all over the world because everyone wears orange on Queen's Day. On this day, people sing, dance, drink and have fun until the morning in the streets of Holland! A lot of tour tourists come to Holland for this special day too! Some people sail in the canals – of course wearing orange life jackets.

The surname of Dutch Royal family is VanOrangenassau and it means "from orange land". You can see why everyone wears that day. And did you know that, farmers made the first orange carrot to celebrate Queen's Day but now it is so popular that all the carrots are orange all over the world! Right now, I'm on the street in Amsterdam for Queen's Day! This is so much fun! See you! Or should I say "Tot Ziens!"?
