6 Read about three holiday camps. Match the camps (A, B or C) with the statements (1 – 11).

A Gwithian Farm

It's only a 10-minute walk through the dunes to the beach from Gwithian Farm, which is a big part of why it's such a hit with families. You can be messing about on the beach by day, and listening to the waves crash on the sand from your tent by night.

And there's lots more too: a pretty village alongside, and goats and guinea pigs to feed. Visitors give a big thumbs-up to the family bath and shower rooms, and to the cream teas served in the garden of the thatched farmhouse. For evenings when you don't want to cook, a mobile chippy calls in three nights a week and a curry van makes a visit on another evening. A slice of the easy life.

B Beddgelert Campsite

If you're a family with a dog, you can't beat Beddgelert . Not only is it very dog-friendly, but from this summer they come free. The site itself has a kids' playground, a well-stocked shop and an information room that's full of ideas about what to do during your visit. For many families staying here a visit to Mount Snowdon is a must, and a trip on the Welsh Highland

LIVEWORKSHEETS

Railway, which has a stop at the campsite, is a fun way to spend an afternoon. There's also the Sygun copper mine up the Gwynant valley.

Finally – back to dogs again – you can't stay here without making a visit to the nearby monument to Gelert, faitful hound of medieval Welsh Prince Llewely the Great. The monument marks the spot where Gelert is buried; the legend is that the prince killed his dog in error, fearing the animal had killed his infant son. The hound had in fact fought off a wolf to save the child …. but Llewelyn didn't discover this until it was too late.

C Kelling Heath

Kellin Heath is a safe, sprawling space surrounded by miles of woodland and heathland trails, with outdoor and indoor swimming pools. There's also a rich programme of kids' events including den-making workshops, junk modelling and storytelling walks. You can hire bikes, play tennis, go fishing, and try your hand at archery – and new for kids and adults are photography, art, pottery and dance workshops. The North Norfolk steam railway goes through the site(Kelling Heath even ha sits own stop), and Amazona Zoo in Cromer – with jaguars, otters, spider monkeys, and flamingo – is a must.

While staying at this campsite, …..

1 you can climb a mountain.		7 you can practise and do arts.
2 you can feed animals.		8 you can see exotic birds and animals.
3 you can go on a train ride.	,	9 you can visit a mine.
4 you can go to the sea.		10 you can bring a dog.
5 you can go swimming in the pools.		11 you can do without cooking supper.
6 you can visit the burial place of a dog.
