Error Correction – Consumerism and Financial Awareness 1

Darren did not come from a well-to-do family. One day, he (0) ask	0	asked his father is he could have a bicycle to cycle to school. Walking to school took him at least half (1) a hour. His father told him (2) sad		9 that unfortunately he could not afford to buy a bicycle for him.	2
Darren understood the situation. He thought of ways to (3) earned	_ money and buy the bicycle himself. His friend (4) suggest that since	3	D he was good at mathematics he could give maths tuition to his	4	19 schoolmates. Darren thought it was a good idea. He advertised (5)	_ him services on the school notice board. Soon, he had two	5	0 students. He taught them in the evenings (6) during school at their	6	p-homes. Darren was a (7) patiently tutor. His students had no	_ problem understanding him. They both did very well in their exams.	7	D
After a few months of (8) tutor, Darren had made enough money	8 to buy his bicycle. However, since he enjoyed tutoring, he continued doing it.

Error Correction – Consumerism and Financial Awareness 2

It is good to (0) started saving your money as soon as possible. You	0	start never know when it may come in handy. However, you should first	_ set specific goals for how much you want to (1) saving. For	1	?  instance, you might set a goal that you will reward yourself (2) by a	2	2 slice of cake every time you save RM 100. If you (3) saving for a	- specific thing, do not forget to account for the cost of sales tax,	3	2 which is an extra charge added on to the price of almost anything	4 you buy. You should also keep your money somewhere safe, like a	 19-12 money box in your cupboard. (4) These is to avoid your money	5 getting lost (5) and stolen. You could also put (6) its in a savings	6	N account where you can get an interest rate. It is (7) the good idea to make a chart so that you can keep track of (8) which you have	7	· spent. This will keep you motivated to continue saving!	8	Y

