

1 ADJECTIVES

- a Complete the sentences with the adjectives in the list.

bright /braɪt/ conscientious /kɒnʃiˈenʃəs/determined /dɪ'tɜːmɪnd/ gentle /'dʒentl/resourceful /rɪ'sɔːsfl/ sarcastic /sɑː'kæstɪk/
self-sufficient /self-sə'fɪʃnt/spontaneous /spɒn'teɪniəs/ steady /'stedɪ/straightforward /streɪt'fɔːwəd/sympathetic /sɪmpə'tetɪk/ thorough /'θʌrə/

- He is very thorough. Whatever part of a job he's doing, he does it with great attention to detail.
- He's quite _____. He can usually work out how to solve a problem.
- He's very _____. He never needs anyone else's help.
- Her boyfriend is a _____ guy. He's sensible and she can really rely on him – just what she needs!
- She's very _____. Once she's decided to do something, nothing will stop her.
- My nieces are both really _____. They get very good marks at school in all their subjects.
- He's not very _____. When I was ill last week he didn't even phone me.
- She is so _____! She worked all weekend to make sure she got everything done.
- My sister's a very _____ person. She's calm and kind and she never gets angry.
- She's such a _____ person. She's honest and open and says just what she thinks.
- He's very _____. He can suddenly decide to go to Paris in the morning and in the evening he's there!
- Our maths teacher used to be so _____. She loved making comments that made us feel small.

- b 16 Listen and check.

False friends

Be careful with sympathetic. Many languages have a similar adjective – sympathique (French), simpatico (Italian), sympatyczny (Polish) – which means friendly. The same is true of gentle; this is not the same as, e.g. gentil (French), gentile (Italian), which mean kind or polite.

2 PHRASES

- a Complete the phrases with the verbs from the list in the right form.

change refuse seem take (x2) tend

- My father tends to avoid conflict. He never argues with my mother – he just leaves the room.
- I don't really like _____ risks, especially with money.
- She makes life hard for herself because she _____ to compromise. Everything has to be perfect.
- She's quite stubborn. She rarely _____ her mind even when she knows she's probably wrong.
- I worry about my grandmother. She's so trusting that it would be easy for people to _____ advantage of her.
- On the surface he _____ self-confident, but deep down he's quite insecure.

- b 17 Listen and check.

3 IDIOMS

- a Match the bold idioms 1–6 to their meanings A–F.

- F My brother-in-law is very down to earth.
- Mum's got a heart of gold.
- My boss is a bit of a cold fish.
- My brother's a real pain in the neck.
- Dad's a soft touch.
- My uncle has a very quick temper.

- He's unfriendly and he never shows his emotions.
- She's incredibly kind to everyone she meets.
- He's so annoying – he's always taking my things.
- I can always persuade him to give me extra pocket money.
- He gets angry very easily.
- He's very sensible and practical.

- b 18 Listen and check.

Being negative about people

We often use a bit / a bit of before negative adjectives or idioms to 'soften' them, e.g. She can be a bit sarcastic. He's a bit of a pain in the neck. We also often use not very + positive adjectives rather than using negative ones, e.g. He's not very bright, rather than He's stupid.

activation Think of people you know for two adjectives from 1, a phrase from 2, and an idiom from 3. Tell your partner about them and why they suit the description.

◀ p.6