Practice of the skill of "Story map".

It was a bright Monday. I was walking to my house when I saw a little girl by the side of the road. The poor kid was crying. I went to her and asked, "Hey, kid. Why are you crying?" The girl didn't say a word. She just cried and cried. Then a man stopped his car and waved at the girl. She shook her head and stepped back. So, I barked, and the man drove away.

"May! Here you are. I was looking for you everywhere." That was the girl's mother. When the girl saw her, she jumped and ran to her. The mother smiled and hugged her in her arms. Finally, they found each other. As for me, I went back to school and enjoyed the beautiful Monday.
