I would like to share a really special time that I had with my close group of friends. Last weekend, we made the decision to spend our whole Saturday at Gucun Park. We packed everything we would need with us, including our cheerful spirits.

We had all decided that the best way to enjoy our afternoon would be to have a barbeque in the self-service area. Each one of us was in charge of bringing a certain ingredient or piece of equipment we would need. They were also having a live-action CS project that we had all signed up to participate in.

Our lives are usually so busy that we struggle to make enough time to do these types of things, so we were very excited. The project allowed us to practice team work and strengthen our bonds in our friendship. At the end of the day, we unpacked our supplies from the car, and had a delicious barbeque together into the evening. We laughed and spoke about the adventures we loved the most. We are so much closer after this incredible day together, and I feel lucky to have such good friends. It was a great way to relax and learn more about each other.
