Describe an impressive advertisement you remember well.

You should say:

when and where you saw it;

what was advertised;

what the contents of the advertisements were;

and explain why you remember it well.

One evening, I was being a total couch potato and binge watching all my favorite TV programs. It was then that I saw an amazing advertisement that had me daydreaming long after. It was a promotional advertisement for a holiday package to visit the beautiful islands in the Maldives.

It showed incredible video footage of the gorgeous white sands and endless stretches of beach. You could watch the sunset while swimming in the pool on the rooftop of your own private villa. There were also phenomenal deals on scuba diving, hiking and snorkeling activities you could do. You were greeted at the villa with a local gift and a spread of delicious food each night, so you could feast to your heart's content.

What really captivated me was how economical the price was. It was actually very affordable and was in a price range that the average person could easily save up for. This really enticed me, and I found myself adjusting my savings in my head so I could take advantage of this offer. I could not think of a better way to enjoy a few days off than to lay in a reclining chair, along the crystal blue oceans of the Maldives.
