

Making Predictions: Might vs. Will

1- Read what these people answer to the question:

"What will the future be like?"

The future? I don't know!

It might be better. I'm not sure.

People might live longer. But I'm not certain.

Cars might fly but they might disappear too.

Who knows?

I know! I'm certain!

The future will be better.

People will live longer.

Cars will fly! They won't disappear! I'm sure!

We use will and might to express an opinion about the future

+ might + infinitive

I might study

- might not + infinitive

I might not study

□ We use might to say that something is possibly true or for an uncertain prediction or intention.

+ Will + infinitive

I will study

- Won't + infinitive

I won't study

□ will & won't are used for predictions, a definite opinion about the future
