

Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall: TV chefs' food isn't unhealthy

<http://www.guardian.co.uk/lifeandstyle/wordofmouth/2012/dec/18/tv-chefs-food-not-unhealthy>

Comprehension questions:

- 1) Ready-meals from supermarkets are healthier when we compare them to television chef's recipes.
- 2) Chefs feel responsible for encouraging people to prepare their own food.
- 3) When you follow a celebrity chef's recipe you tend to eat more from the food you prepare.
- 4) His main goal is to make healthy home-cooked meals more appealing.

Are these sentences true or false?

1.
2.
3.
4.	