One day the vowels went for a walk. Suddenly it started to rain. So the letter U put up his large umbrella, which he always carried, because the word "umbrella" starts with his "uh" sound. The other letters, a, e, i, and o, asked if they could get under the umbrella, too. "Yes," said U, "if you promise to say my 'uh' sound in words." The other letters were sad. They wanted to say their own sounds. But then it started to rain even harder. "Please, we want to say our own sounds," said the vowels, "but we are getting wet." The letter U said, "If you promise to say my sound in some words, I'll let you get under the umbrella." And that is why, to this very day, the letters a, e, i, and o say their own sound in most words, but in some words they say the u/umbrella sound.

Questions: give some words with letters a, e, i and o with ''uh' sound?

Part 2: William's childhood

No other period of life is so free and happy as childhood period. I was born in a middle-class family. Parents loved me much more than I deserved. They gave up their peace and happiness for me. Being the only son of the family I bathed in the sea of my parents' love and affection. There was a big river near my house. I used to walk by the riverside holding father's little finger during sunset. We spent about half an hour there before going home for dinner. There was a small field where I played with my friends. At the right corner of the field, there was a big bushy tree. Hundreds of birds made their nets there in the tree. My friends and I used to go there every week to check on the baby birds.
