

CONDITIONALS AND UNREAL PAST 2

I. Transform the sentences into conditionals.

- She isn't happy so she doesn't often smile.
If she often.
- They will keep the dog but she must promise to look after it.
They will keep the dog provided it.
- She is always busy, so she didn't have time for me yesterday.
If she for me yesterday.
- I think you should ask for help.
If for help.
- He won't stay with us if you don't offer him a pay rise.
Unless with us.
- She drank 3 coffees, so she can't sleep now.
If she now.
- Burning rubber makes it produce black smoke.
If you black smoke.

II. Transform the sentences using the words in bold.

- If Tom wasn't ill, he would go to the show with you. BUT
..... to the show with you.
- Write down a note because you may forget about the appointment. CASE
..... about the appointment.
- He is sorry that he doesn't earn a lot of money. WISHES
..... a lot of money.
- She says she doesn't want to dance. RATHER
She
- Maybe he doesn't love her any more. That's how he behaves. IF
He behaves any more.
- We should have finished it then. ABOUT
It then.
- I don't like it that you treat me like a child. SOONER
..... me like a child.
- It didn't matter that they didn't help him, he succeeded anyway. WHETHER
He him.