One day, an English teacher was explaining about colors to his students.

After he had finished explaining, he asked his students. "Who can make a sentence using the words green, pink, and yellow?"

Kris the cleverest student in the class, quickly raised up his hand and answered, "when the yellow morning sun comes, I see a beautiful girl wearing a pink dress walking through the green grass".

"Great! Kris, you are a very good student." said the teacher.

"Me, me, sir" Niel, the most stupid student in the class said while rising his hand. And the said, "I heard the telephone was ringing green …… green, then I pink up the receiver and I said "Yellow, who's speaking there?"

"Honey What is for Supper?"

An elderly gentleman of 85 feared his wife was getting hard of hearing. So one day he called her doctor to make an appointment to have her hearing checked.

The Doctor made an appointment for a hearing test in two weeks, and meanwhile there's a simple informal test the husband could do to give the doctor some idea of the state of her problem.

"Here's what you do," said the doctor. "Start out about 40 feet away from her, and in a normal conversational speaking tone see if she hears you. If not, go to 30 feet, then 20 feet, and so on until you get a response."

That evening, the wife is in the kitchen cooking dinner, and he's in the living room. He tries to ask, "Honey, what's for supper?"

No response.

So the husband moved to the other end of the room, about 30 feet from his wife and repeats, "Honey, what's for supper?"

Still no response.

Next he moves into the dining room where he is about 20 feet from his wife and asks, "Honey, what's for supper?"

Again he gets no response.

So he walks up to the kitchen door, only 10 feet away. "Honey, what's for supper?"

Again there is no response.

So he walks right up behind her. "Honey, what's for supper?"

"Jesus Earl, for the fifth time: CHICKEN!"
