

(Objective of this activity is students are able to identify pros arguments and cons arguments on a certain issue)

Read the dialogue below.

- Louis : Eva, I need your opinion about infotainment programs on TV.
- Eva : Infotainment programs? What's the problem?
- Louis : Do you like news that reveals the personal lives of celebrities?
- Eva : Well, I watch it when I have nothing to do.
- Louis : Do you enjoy it?
- Eva : To tell you the truth, sometimes I find the gossip interesting.
- Louis : I think so, too. But, many people condemn the content of the infotainment programs. The programs sometimes go too far into the private lives of people.
- Eva : I can understand that. People who are fond of the infotainment programs believe that the information is based on facts.
- Louis : Right. But I also think that the programs can encourage celebrities to act positively in public.
- Eva : So far the programs have become a dilemma for some viewers. On the one hand, the programs run stories on how celebrities build the career. On the other, they can also bring terrible consequences.
- Louis : Oops! It's almost nine. I have something important to do. Thanks for your opinion. It will help me with my article. See you
- Eva : See you and good luck
