I think camping holidays are the best because you spend a lot of time outside in the fresh air and there's always something to do. I never sit still! It's so _____<sup>1</sup> to be close to nature after spending loads of time inside during the school term.

The other thing is that you can play table tennis and football, you can go walking – that kind of thing. At night you can try stargazing. You never get _____<sup>2</sup>.

Sea, sun and sand – what more do you need? Beach holidays are my favourite! After working so hard at school all year, I just want to chill out and do as little as possible! When you spend all day on the beach and play in the sand, you feel really _____<sup>3</sup>. And you can lie under a sun shade and read a book or text your friends. I'm really into holidays by the sea because they can be quite _____<sup>4</sup> – it's so easy to make new friends there.

Camping holidays aren't really for me. There are too many insects, it's too hot at night and there might be a spider in your sleeping bag. It's very _____<sup>5</sup> and there could be dangerous scorpions or snakes nearby. And barbecues aren't much _____<sup>6</sup> because Dad always burns the food. I wish we could go sightseeing in a city instead.
