

bonus	As I'm working for the sales dept. I get a after every item I sell.
threat of redundancy	She is the first to arrive to the office and last to leave, it's really motivating.
better working environment	Head of Department, that sounds good, doesn't it?
commission	Money is not the most important thing to motivate me, the atmosphere is equally important.
hard-working boss	Every September we receive some extra money in case we've reached the target.
promotion opportunities	What I'd appreciate the most would be less overtime.
praise	Most of the people at the company are afraid that they might lose their jobs because of the crisis.
supportive colleagues	I wouldn't be able to work in a 9 to 5 job, so this is the ideal place for me.
more time off	The vouchers and the company car are really attractive part of our remuneration package.
important job title	Chances are that I'll have been appointed team-leader this time next year.
perks	Our boss is very fair, he always tells us when we've done well.
more flexible working hours	All the colleagues are happy that we are moving the new and modern building.
