

Name:

Class:

Date:

LESSON 82: Life on Earth

- Theme: Health and Environment

DSKP Grammar

Student's Book: Unit 4, p. 47

GRAMMAR HELP*A/AN, SOME, ANY

- We use a and an with singular countable nouns.
 - There is a boat by the jetty.
- We use some with plural countable nouns and uncountable nouns.
 - May I have some water, please?
- We use any with plural countable nouns and uncountable nouns in negative sentences and questions.
 - Are there any horses?
 - There isn't any meat in the dish.

MUCH, MANY, A LOT OF

- We use much with uncountable nouns, in negative sentences and questions.
 - There isn't much soup left in the pot.
- We use many with plural countable nouns, in negative sentences and questions.
 - How many books did you borrow?
- We use a lot of with plural countable nouns and uncountable nouns.
 - There are a lot of guests at the party.

Digital Resource

A. Underline the correct answers.

- Are there (a / an / any) suggestions?
- Do you need (a / an / any) help from us?
- There is (a / an / some) mirror in the red bag.
- He had (a / an / any) apple for breakfast.
- I saw (an / some / any) elephants during my trip to the safari park.
- There aren't (a / some / any) trees around my grandparents' house.

B. Fill in the blanks with 'many', 'much' or 'a lot of'.

What is a travelogue? A travelogue is a piece of writing about one's travels. _____ (1) people find travelogues useful as they help them to know more about a particular place. If you are one of those who get to travel to _____ (2) places, why not start a travelogue of your own? You may think writing a travelogue does not require _____ (3) effort, but you actually need _____ (4) patience to write just one travelogue.

Firstly, you need to do some research on the places that you have visited. Research is a step you should not skip, otherwise there will not be _____ (5) information that you can give to your readers. Secondly, remember to take _____ (6) photographs of the places you are going to write about. Travelogue readers will not be convinced about how fun or beautiful a place is if there is not _____ (7) evidence. Readers too will find your travelogue boring if there is not _____ (8) humour in your writing. So, you may want to describe some funny incidents in your writing.