YOU'D NEVER GUESS THESE WERE OLYMPIC SPORTS!

One of the world's most popular sporting events, the Olympics, is older than you might think. It started almost 3,000 years ago, around 776 BC, in ancient Greece.

Some of the early Modern Olympic events are the same ones we see today. But some of them came and went so fast that few people remember that they once were part of the Olympic Games. Let's take a look back at those events that were just too strange or not popular enough to stay.

Skijoring

The name Skijoring means "ski-diving" in Norwegian. In this sport, a horse pulls a person on skis over a racecourse covered in snow. It actually looks a lot like water skiing! This strange sport from Norway was part of the Winter Olympics only once, in 1928. Dogs or a motor vehicle instead of a horse pull the skier in variations of this sport.

Hot Air Ballooning

During the Paris Olympics of 1900, hot air ballooning was introduced to the Olympic Games. Players competed to see how far and high they could go or how long they could stay in the air.

Tug-of-War

Did you know that in 1900, 1904, 1908, 1912, and 1920, tug-of-war, a popular game with children all over the world, was a regular Olympic event? The Olympic tug-of-war competition had eight players at each end of a long rope. The team that pulled the other team 2 meters won the event. In the five years of this Olympic game, Great Britain won the most medals in this event.

Croquet

The only time croquet was an Olympic event was in the 1900 Paris Olympics. France won all the events but this was no surprise as 9 out of the 10 players were French!

To be fair, some of the events that are still part of the Olympics don't look less weird than the ones we mentioned above. Can you think of any?
