Fill in blanks with givenwords.

power	rural areas	depleted	costly	similar	burden

By 2050, 70 per cent of the world's people will live in cities. And life in big cities will not be (1)_____to what it is like today. Energy, especially oil, will be very (2)_____because the natural resources are (3)_____ due to the excessive exploitation. As a result, many people will probably work at home, or have their workplaces close to where they live.. Also, too many people living in big cities will be a (4)_____on the infrastructure. It will be difficult to provide enough water, gas and (5) _____for really big cities, so these will probably stop growing. Many people from the countryside will move to smaller cities rather than to big cities because life in smaller cities is more suitable to young people, especially those coming from the (6)

LIVEWORKSHEETS