

Name:

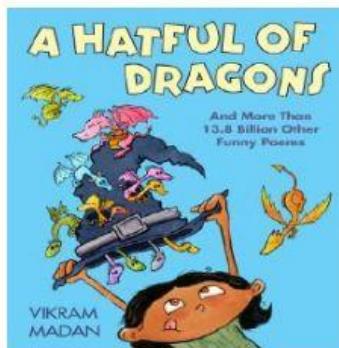

Subject: Reading Comprehension

Topic: Text Features: Part I

Text features are the parts of a nonfiction book that help you find information easily or tell you more about the topic.

- Titles
- Table of Contents
- Headings/Subheadings
- Photographs
- Illustrations
- Diagrams
- Captions
- Bold words
- Glossary
- Index
- Electronic Menu
- Icons

The title is the name of the book. Titles tell the reader the topic of the text. It also shows the main idea of the text.

The table of contents gives the heading and beginning page number for each section of the book. The table of contents shows how the book is organized so you can find information more easily.

Table of Contents
Ocean World	6
Meet the Turtles	10
Nest Building	14
Oh, Baby!	16
On the Menu	22
Danger!	24
Glossary	32
Index	33

The headings/subheadings divide the text into sections. Headings and subheadings are printed in large or bold type to make them stand out. Headings and subheadings help the reader to locate information in the text by telling them where to look.

heading

subheading

Photographs are pictures taken with a camera that show how something looks in real life. Photographs help the reader better understand the topic they are reading about.

Illustrations are hand-drawn pictures. Illustrations help the reader "see" what is being talked about in the text.

Name: _____ Date: _____

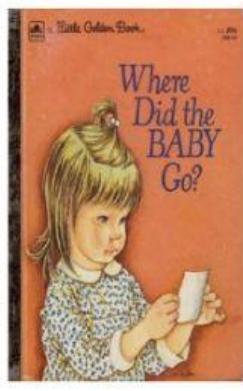

Reading Comprehension: Text Features Part I

Instructions: Drag and drop the pictures into the correct box.

Helpful Ants Although ants are frustrating when they get in homes, ants do help the environment. They help control the population of damaging pests such as termites.
Types of Ants Types of ants include fire ants, which cause a painful sting, and carpenter ants, which damage wood structures while nest building. Other types of ants include honey, pharaoh, house, Argentine, and the thief ant.

Introduction	1
1 Weather in Winter	4
2 People in Winter	9
3 Plants in Winter	13
4 Animals in Winter	19
Winter Vocabulary	25
Index	27

Title	Table of Contents	Heading/ Subheading	Picture	Illustration