The Eleuthera Pineapple Festival

1 The island of Eleuthera is well known for growing pineapples. Each year in early June, a weekend celebration is held called the Eleuthera Pineapple festival. People come from all over The Bahamas and abroad to enjoy this festival, which is held in Gregory Town.

2 Besides the many tasty pineapples, there are a variety of activities to enjoy. One fun activity is the pineapple-eating contest. Contestants must eat a pineapple that is hanging from a string with their hands tied behind their backs. The first one to eat the entire pineapple wins.

3 A recipe contest is also held during the festival. Contestants display dishes made using pineapple. The recipes are for jams, cakes, pies, tarts, salads, juices, and ice cream. Judges taste the dishes and choose the best one as the winner. While the festival is being held, interested people can take tours of pineapple farms. They can see how pineapples are grown.

4 Many other activities take place at the site of the Pineapple Festival in Gregory Town. Local residents display and sell their crafts. Some stalls sell food and drinks. Groups perform music all day and night for enjoyment and dancing. The Pineapple Festival usually ends with a big Junkanoo parade. Local groups and people from abroad participate in the parade.
