Match heads and tails.

Some of Shakespeare's words	Cassius says that he will write letters to Brutus.
The term mechanical in Act 1 Scene 1 means	it is sometimes necessary to rearrange words.
Metaphors	are games with words that sound the same but have different meanings.
Sometimes Shakespeare's sentences	refers to working men.
In order to recreate late Modern English arrangement of words,	Cassius means that he will use different handwritings.
Shakespeare's puns	are ideas expressed as if they were something else.
Shakespeare often places	do not necessarily keep the regular arrangement.
In Act 1 Scene 2,	have different meanings or no longer exist.
By indicating he'll throw his writing in different hands,	the verb before the subject and even the object before the subject and the verb.

LIVEWORKSHEETS