

Hamburger Paragraph Writing

Directions: Drag and drop the parts of the paragraph into the correct place.

The diagram illustrates the structure of a paragraph using a hamburger analogy. On the left, a hamburger is shown with four layers: a top bun labeled 'Introduction/ Topic Sentence', two middle patties labeled 'Supporting Detail', and a bottom bun labeled 'Conclusion/ Closing Sentence'. Arrows indicate where each layer should be placed in a four-row grid on the right. The top and bottom rows are outlined in orange, while the two middle rows are outlined in green.

Introduction/ Topic Sentence
Supporting Detail
Supporting Detail
Conclusion/ Closing Sentence

During the long Labor Day weekend, I had a very relaxing time.

As you can see, my long weekend was fun and relaxing.

My brother and I put together a 500 piece puzzle. It was hard but we did it! I found it relaxing.

I didn't go out, but I had fun hanging out at home.