

Animals and Their Parts

Fill in the blanks.

air

move

respond

teeth

fins

organisms

swim

Animals share certain characteristics that make them different from plants. Animals can fly, run, jump, or 1 . They eat other 2 instead of making their own food. Animals 3 to their environments more noticeably than plants.

Animals have a variety of structures. They have different kinds of 4 for biting and chewing. Lungs and gills help animals get oxygen from 5 and water. Feet, legs, and wings help different animals 6 . Fish have tails and 7 that help them move through water. Tongues, beaks, and trunks help animals get water