Based on the double bubble map below, write four paragraphs about the frog and the toad. Use the text on page 110 as reference. The first sentence has been given as an example.

Paragraph 1 (Introduction)	– similarities – differences – frog – toad?
Paragraph 2	Write about the similarities.
Paragraph 3	Write about the differences.
Paragraph 4 (Conclusion)	– important – part of food chain – decreasing in numbers – protect – not disappear

They are both reptiles. They are cold-blooded. They lay eggs in the ground. Both the tortoise and the turtle do not have any teeth.

The tortoise lives on land but the turtle lives in water. The tortoise has round stumpy feet which help it to move on land. The turtle has webbed feet. These feet help it to move in the water. The tortoise's shell is large and dome-shaped to protect it from its enemies. However, the turtle's shell is flat and streamlined to help it swim well in the sea.

These animals are important to us because they are part of the food chain. However, they are decreasing in numbers. We must protect them so that they do not disappear from the earth.
