Last Minute

A: Did you finish the math project?

B: I have not started.

A: But it's due tomorrow!

B: I thought it was due next week.

A: Do you even pay attention in class?

B: I guess not.

A: Do you know where to start?

B: Not at all.

A: I can help you.

B: That would be awesome.

A: I'll help you at my house tonight.

B: I'll be there.

Forgetting It at Home

A: Did you bring the pie chart for our presentation?

B: You're going to be mad.

A: What did you do?!

B: I forgot the pie chart.

A: How could you forget?

B: I am so sorry.

A: Where is it?

B: It is at home.

A: Are your parents at home?

B: My mom is at home.

A: Ask her to drop it off.

B: I will call her right now.

Doing the Right Thing

A: I am doing poorly in my history class.

B: What is your grade?

A: I have an F.

B: You need to do well on the final exam.

A: I am planning to study.

B: That did not work all the times before.

A: What do you think I should do then?

B: Look at a smart person's test answers.

A: But that is cheating!

B: What other choice do you have?

A: I would rather fail the class than cheat.

B: You're a good student.

LIVEWORKSHEETS

To Borrow It from the Library

A: I have a book report.

B: What book are you doing it on?

A: I have to read To Kill a Mockingbird.

B: That is an excellent book.

A: That is good to know.

B: Do you have the book yet?

A: I am planning to get it soon.

B: You should borrow it from the library.

A: What is the library?

B: You have never heard of the library?

A: I have never heard of it.

B: At the library, you can borrow books for free.

Suspension

A: I'm planning to put gum in Ms. Miller's hair.

B: Why would you do such a thing?

A: Because Ms. Miller gives too much homework.

B: She is so nice though.

A: I do not care.

B: You might get suspended.

A: What does that mean?

B: It means you have to leave school for a while.

A: That's the punishment?

B: Yes, it is worse than detention.

A: Suspension sounds like a vacation to me.

B: Say that to your parents.

School and Work

A: I have five classes and 40 hours of work weekly.

B: Your life is so stressful.

A: Sadly, it is.

B: I am only taking two classes.

A: Do you have work?

B: I am too lazy to work.

A: Don't you want money though?

B: My parents are rich.

A: My parents are poor.

B: I'm sorry to hear that.

A: They're poor but honest, good people.

B: Good for you.
