

Chinese Portrait

If I were colour, I would be orange because it's bright and joyful.

If I were country, I would be Italy because I love Italian food.

If I were school subject, I would be arts because I love to draw, and it's my favourite teacher.

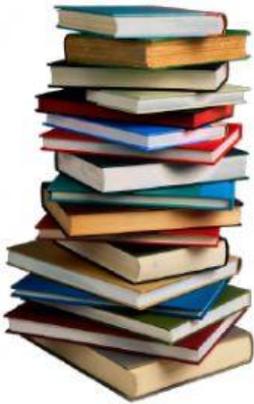

If I were car, I would be Tesla because it's electric, but I prefer bikes.

If I were singer, I would be MARINA because I love her songs, they are intelligent and she is feminist.

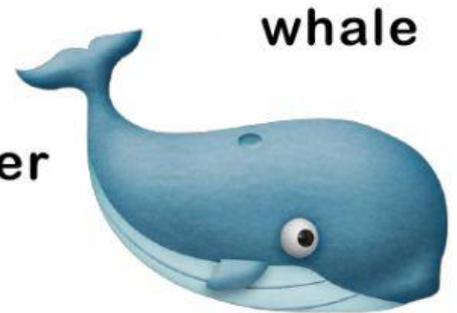

If I were fragrance, I would be smell of rain because I love smell, it's smell of autumn.

If I were                    season, I would be                    autumn because it's                    beautiful moment: the leaves are orange and yellow, and you can stay inside when it's raining.

If I were                    object, I would be book because I love reading!

If I were                    animal, I would be because they are gigantic, powerful, and they don't eat other animals.

If I were                    clothes, I would be pyjama because I love to stay in my pyjamas all day at home.
