

Conventions

Compound and Complex Sentences

Directions Write compound if the sentence is a compound sentence. Write complex if the sentence is a complex sentence.

1. Great athletes seem superhuman, but they often begin humbly. _____
2. After they learned the basics, they practiced hard. _____
3. If they had failures, they did not give up. _____
4. They kept at it for years, and they steadily improved. _____

Directions Choose the conjunction that can join each pair of simple sentences.

1. I like swimming. My dad is the athletism trainer. (but, or)
2. I can jump like a rabbit. I can run like a racehorse. (but, and)
3. I could choose one sport. I could do both. (or, nor)
4. According to Mom, I should decide. She is usually right. (and, or)

Directions Choose the word in () that best connects the clauses.

1. The players are tired (because, if) they have played two games.
2. (Although, After) they finish their games, they sleep on the bus.
3. They may travel for hours (before, since) they reach the next town.
4. The driver will not wake them (after, until) the bus gets to the hotel.