

Stages of Human Development

Instructions: State whether the statements are TRUE ✓ or FALSE ✗. Be sure to read each statement carefully before selecting your answer.

1. The prenatal stage is the first stage of human development. ✓ ✗
2. There are four main stages of human development. ✓ ✗
3. Adolescence can be divided into pre and post adolescence. ✓ ✗
4. Senescence is the strongest stage of human development. ✓ ✗
5. During infancy the child is dependent on his/her parents for food and care. ✓ ✗
6. The body is fully grown at the adulthood stage of development. ✓ ✗
7. During childhood there is a period of steady physical and mental growth. ✓ ✗
8. The childhood stage is the shortest stage of human development. ✓ ✗
9. The infant eventually learns to sit, crawl and walk during infancy. ✓ ✗
10. Adolescence is the stage where individuals experience puberty. ✓ ✗