

Human & Social Biology

Health & Disease Assignment

Section A: Multiple-choice questions

To satisfy

- 1) To satisfy the World Health Organization definition of health, people must be free from:
 - a. infections
 - b. infections and injury
 - c. infections, injury and social deprivation
 - d. infections, injury, mental illness and social deprivation

- 2) Which may cause an infectious disease?
 - a. Poison
 - b. Overeating
 - c. Bacteria
 - d. Genetic mutation

- 3) Which is a non-communicable disease?
 - a. Asthma
 - b. Gonorrhea
 - c. Influenza
 - d. Malaria

- 4) Which is a communicable disease?
 - a. Asthma
 - b. Cancer
 - c. Diabetes
 - d. Leptospirosis

5) What is the vector for dengue fever?

- a. Fly
- b. Mosquito
- c. Mouse
- d. Snail

Section B

Select terms from the table below to complete the paragraph:

degenerative	disease	communicable	illness
vector	bacteria	micro-organisms	unhygienic non-communicable	physical	infected	social

Health is a state of complete _____, mental and _____ well-being. It is not just the absence of _____ or _____. Chronic or _____ diseases are _____.

Many diseases are caused when microbes such as certain _____ and viruses get into the body. This can happen by being in _____ conditions or being in contact with someone who is already _____ with the disease.

Section C

Match the chronic disease to its symptoms.

	Raised blood sugar levels
Asthma	Lack of insulin produced by pancreas
	Raised blood sugar levels
Obesity	Lack of response to insulin from cells
	A BMI over 30
Type I Diabetes	Often with low self-esteem
	Narrowing of the breathing tubes;
Type II Diabetes	Swelling of the lining and production of mucus