New words in our dictionary

Dear Readers,

We recently added the word 'selfie' to our Online Dictionary. Many people use this word now and our team thought it was a good word to include. A 'selfie' is a picture of yourself that you take with your camera or your mobile phone. Another new word this month is 'phablet'. It's a gadget that is a phone and a tablet. Technology is really important because a lot of new words are created to talk about gadgets and things we do with them.

But how do we decide which new words to include in our dictionary and when? Every year, we add about 1,000 words and there are many people around the world who help us choose them. They send us new words they find in books, songs, magazines, and, of course, on the internet. When more than one person sends us the same word, it becomes a 'possible entry'. We then talk about each word and decide how important it is.

In the past, people needed to use a word for more than two or three years before it could go in the dictionary. This isn't how it works today. Dictionaries contain words that almost everyone uses and words that become popular very quickly. A word like 'selfie' appears one day on the internet and the same week thousands of people might be using it around the world. Send us your word, and if people start using it a lot, you might see it in our dictionary!

READING part 2

4. Read and complete the conversations with the phrases from A – F.

Man: Hello, James. I need to ask you some questions about the robbery yesterday. Is that OK? First question: ❶ ☐

James: At 3.00? I was at the post office.

Man: ❷ ☐

James: Because I needed to buy a stamp. It's my grandmother's birthday tomorrow, and I needed to send her a card.

Man: ❸ ☐

James: No, I didn't. I didn't see anything. The post office was very quiet, and there were only about five people there.

Man: ❹ ☐

James: I was with my brother, Paul. We went together.

Man: ❺ ☐

James: After we finished at the post office, we went to the park. We saw our friends and played football with them. Then Paul had an accident and cut his leg.

Man: ❻ ☐

James: Yes, he's fine, thank you. He was running too quickly, and he fell over. But my mum washed his leg and put a plaster on the cut, so he's OK now.

a Why did you go there?
b What happened? Is he OK?
c Who were you with?
d Where did you go after that?
e Did you see the robbery?
f Where were you at 3.00 yesterday?
