

The Lion and the Mouse

A lion was once sleeping in the jungle when a mouse came and ran over and down his body just for fun. This disturbed the lion's sleep, and he woke up quite angry. When the mouse desperately requested the lion to set him free. "I promise you, I will be of use to you if you save me." The lion laughed at the mouse's confidence and let him go.

One day, a lion and a mouse went into the forest and took the lion with them. They tied him up against a tree. The lion was angry and started to whimper. Soon, the mouse came and noticed the lion in trouble. Quickly, he ran and gnawed on the ropes to free the lion. Both of them returned to the jungle.

Moral of the Story

A small mouse can go a long way.
