There were many pirates in history and Blackbeard was a very famous one, but the beginning of his life was a mystery. Some historians say this pirate was born in Bristol, in the southeast of England and his real name was Edward Teach.
At the beginning of the 18th century there was an important war in Europe, the War of the Spanish Succession. At that time many men became sailors and fought for their country. When the war finished many of them became pirates. Edward Teach was one of them. Teach was sailing in the Jamaican seas when he met a famous pirate: Benjamin Hornigold. They became friends and soon captured ships. They also killed many men and stole a lot of money.
Teach then created the myth of Blackbeard the pirate. He wanted everyone to be afraid of him. He grew a long beard and learned how to fight with swords, guns and knives. He was cruel and dangerous. Soon Blackbeard became famous. People began to write about him. Some stories were true but many were not.
