This exam paper has four tasks. Complete all tasks.

Task 1 – Long reading

Read the following text about hobbies and answer the 15 questions on page 3.

Paragraph 1

Many people do sports in their free time and people also have hobbies. People spend a lot of time and money on their hobby and for some it is even a job. The more usual hobbies are things like stamp or coin collecting, but there are many more unusual hobbies too.

Paragraph 2

One English man, Tom Holmes, collects ties. He started this hobby over seventy years ago and he now has over 11,000 different ties. He even receives one tie a year on his birthday from the British Prime Minister. These ties are from all over the world and you can see his collection in a local museum near Birmingham, England.

Paragraph 3

Kari Hansen also collects things. She collects anything she finds on the beach near her home in Norway. The most expensive thing she found was a piece of metal jewellery. This was over 2,500 years old. She keeps her collection in a garage, but now she needs more space. Next year she is going to buy another garage.

Paragraph 4

Another strange but popular hobby is 'toy travelling'. This is when people photograph a toy, such as a teddy bear, in front of famous monuments in their country or abroad. Then these people write about the toy's experiences on social media as it travels to many different places.

Paragraph 5

Perhaps the strangest hobby is 'mooing', that is making the sounds of a cow. The annual Wisconsin 'Mooing' Competition in the USA is open to anybody aged more than five years old. One boy, Austin Siok, started to 'moo' for fun years ago, but two months before the contest he started to practise every day. Austin sounded more like a cow than the eighty other people in the competition. He won a prize of 1,000 dollars and a cowbell.

Felicity: The best place to study is in the living room. I can't study in my bedroom. I share it with my sister and she's always making lots of noise.

Kuldeep: I do my homework in my bedroom. There isn't a quieter room in the house and no one disturbs me.

Tan: I like studying in the school library. It's nice to study with friends and other classmates. We can do school projects on the computers in there. Sometimes I look at the books they've got in there too.

Flora: I study in the kitchen because it is warm.

Winston: I do homework on the bus to and from school. Next year I'm going to study harder. My sister's going to leave home and I can study without her and her friends annoying me.

Hi Yolanda

I know you're having difficulties with your homework but maybe I have the answer!

Last year I was like you. I didn't understand some of the things we did in class, especially in the maths and science classes. Then I talked to some classmates and now four of us go to Alessia's house to study. She lives near the school so it's really convenient. We help each other with our homework and all of us score much higher marks now. And we have fun! Alessia's mum even brings us cups of tea and cakes. Her cakes aren't as good as my dad's, but it's kind of her!

We meet at 4pm on every weekday except Thursdays. Why don't you come and join us?

See you soon.
