Jaguars live in the South and Central . They are and they usually like eating fish and deer.

Jaguars have got to help them fight and protect themselves. They use their claws to Food, too. They have also to help them hide. They are very clever! They like and they can use their tails to catch fish!

Jaguars are animals, so they haven't got any predators in the wild. They are good at and climbing trees. Many people think that jaguars are the kings of the American jungle.
