

Theme 1:

INTENSIFIERS: We use words like very, really and extremely to make adjectives stronger:

- It's a very interesting story.
- It's a really interesting story.
- Everyone was extremely excited.

Other intensifiers are: amazingly, exceptionally, incredibly, particularly, remarkably, unusually

We also use enough to say more about an adjective, but enough comes after its adjective:

- If you are eighteen, you are old enough to drive a car.
- I can't wear those shoes. They're not big enough.

INTENSIFIERS WITH STRONG ADJECTIVES. Strong adjectives are words like:

- very big ⇨ enormous, huge
- very small ⇨ tiny
- very clever ⇨ brilliant
- very bad ⇨ awful, terrible, disgusting, dreadful
- very sure ⇨ certain
- very good ⇨ excellent, perfect, ideal, wonderful, splendid
- very tasty ⇨ delicious

We do not normally use very with these adjectives. We do not say something is ~~very~~ enormous or someone is ~~very~~ brilliant.

With strong adjectives, we normally use intensifiers like:

absolutely, completely, exceptionally, particularly, really, quite, pretty, totally, utterly

- The film was absolutely awful.
- He was an exceptionally brilliant child.
- The food smelled really disgusting.

INTENSIFIERS WITH PARTICULAR ADJECTIVES. Some intensifiers go with particular adjectives depending on the meaning of the adjective:

- I'm afraid your wife is dangerously ill.
- The car was seriously damaged.
- Fortunately none of the passengers was seriously hurt.

Some intensifiers go with particular adjectives. For example, we use the intensifier highly with the adjectives successful, intelligent, likely and unlikely:

- He was highly intelligent.
- She's a highly successful businesswoman.

We do NOT say: We had a highly-tasty meal. Or That is a highly-good idea.

We use the intensifier bitterly with the adjectives disappointed, unhappy and cold:

- I was bitterly unhappy at school.
- We were bitterly disappointed to lose the match.
- It can get bitterly cold in winter.

Exercise 1: Use the expressions to complete each sentence in the most appropriate way. There are 3 spare ones not to be used.

deeply disappointed / drop-dead gorgeous / seriously damaged / desperately unhappy gravely ill / universally popular / deliriously happy / highly successful / firmly committed / keenly observant

1. My mother was a _____ tennis player in her time. She won loads of tournaments.
2. The car was _____ in the accident. It had to be scrapped.

5. The restaurant was shut down when three people were _____ after eating there.
6. Esther's _____ working at the bank, so she's looking for a new job.
7. In order to be a successful detective, you need to be _____.

INTENSIFIERS WITH COMPARATIVES AND SUPERLATIVES.

We use these words and phrases as intensifiers with comparative adjectives:

much, far, a lot, quite a lot, a great deal, a good deal, a good bit, a fair bit

- He is much older than me.
- New York is a lot bigger than Boston.

We use much and far as intensifiers with comparative adjectives in front of a noun:

- France is a much bigger country than Britain.
- He is a far better player than Ronaldo.

We use easily and by far as intensifiers with superlative adjectives:

- The blue whale is easily the biggest animal in the world.
- This car was by far the most expensive.

ADJECTIVES AS INTENSIFIERS

We use some adjectives as intensifiers with nouns:

Absolute, complete, total, perfect, real, utter

- He's a complete idiot.
- They were talking utter nonsense.

We do NOT say: ~~The idiot was complete.~~ Or ~~The nonsense they were talking was utter.~~
