

READING ACTIVITY

Richard Marshall and his wife Elaine are retired. Recently they moved to a new house in Hexham, a town near a Newcastle, in the north of England. Richard was born in Hexham, but Elaine is originally from Aberdeen, a town in the north of Scotland.

Gordon Marshall- Richard and Elaine's son- was born in Newcastle but he now lives with his wife and daughter in Leeds, a town about 150 km. away, where he is teacher. He's also worked abroad: he worked in a restaurant in France when he was younger.

Sarah Marshall- Gordon's wife- has always wanted her own business. Her daughter Rebecca left school last year, and now they're in business together. She and her mother have opened a new sandwich shop called "Crusts" in Leeds city centre. It's the first time they've worked together
