look in on

backwards and forwards

pride

migraine

pay us another visit

fast asleep

up to put up with

it's time

be by

embroider

cut off from the world

rumpus

- Did you _____ Nicholas?
- Yes, ma'am. The little angel is _____
- What about Anne? Is she still on the stairs?
- Oh, yes, ma'am.
- I'd prefer to have her….Where I can see her but I can't _____ in such poor light.
- How long is this punishment going to go on? It's been three days now. It's _____ her. She's got to learn to swallow her _____ and ask for forgiveness. Anyway, _____ she stared to read the Bible.
- The priest will be very pleased to hear that, ma'am.
- If he ever deigns to _____
- He knows perfectly well that the children can't go out.
- He told me yesterday... he'd _____ as soon as possible.
- I'm beginning to feel totally _____ This fog doesn't exactly help. It's never lasted this long before.
- Oh, that's true, ma'am.
- Even the seagulls have gone quiet. Anne! Anne, I can't hear you. Incidentally, Mrs Mills, I've had to _____ the noise of Lydia running around above my head. She's been hurling _____ as if there were three of her. Would you kindly tell her it's not necessary to kick up quite such a _____ just to do a little cleaning? I couldn't bear to get another _____ attack.
- I'll tell her, ma'am.
- Thank you.

LIVEWORKSHEETS